

NEW HUDSON TUBE VENTILATION SEEN

Carbon Monoxide Not Noticed
After Demonstration With Plan Is Efficient.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.
Pittsburgh, Oct. 22.—Members of the New Jersey Bridge and Tunnel Commission were here today to witness a special exhibition test of the ventilation in a model vehicular tunnel similar to the proposed Hudson River tunnel from New York to Jersey City.
The test was made at the experimental mine of the United States Bureau of Mines at Bruceton and was considered by the commissioners and Bureau of Mines officials as successful.
The special test was similar to some that have been made recently to determine the effects of motor exhaust gases, the heat and the smoke and the best methods of eliminating all such effects in tunnels.

The Bureau of Mines has conducted the investigation in cooperation with the New York and New Jersey State Bridge and Tunnel commissions with the special object of solving the ventilation problem of the long tubes designed to replace the ferries in handling the traffic between New York city and New Jersey under the Hudson.

After today's exhibition tests bureau officials informed the New Jersey commissioners that the investigations have yielded thus far scientific data that will determine the safest and best condition of ventilation in tunnels and have demonstrated that vehicular tunnels can be constructed so that ventilation will not be injurious to the health of persons using them.

The New Jersey party was composed of W. H. Hayes, Samuel Shay, Frank P. Gallaher and Charles S. Stevens, bridge and tunnel commissioners; Emerson Richards, counsel for the commission, and C. M. Holland of New York, chief engineer of the Hudson River vehicular tunnel, who remained here following tests at the mine Thursday for the members of the board of consulting engineers of the Hudson River tunnel project and bureau of mines officials. The visiting commissioners also saw the tests, after which they did not observe carbon monoxide, the exhaust gas from motors which must be eliminated to make vehicular tunnels safe from the ventilation standpoint.

FILM VILLAGE WRECKED.

Fort Lee Residents Jolted When Big Light Blew Out.

Residents of Fort Lee, N. J., living within half a mile of the Fox Film Corporation studio were awakened yesterday morning by an explosion which broke windows in many of the houses. Soon thereafter scantily clad citizens appeared at the film plant and inquired what had happened.

They observed the wreckage of part of a village setting, about 250 feet long, which was being used in a film production. Workmen had just connected the are lights illuminating the village when one of the lights blew out. It was of particularly high voltage. There was no fire and the police reported that no one was hurt, although some actors were near by rehearsing.
